

Chamber Music
WILMINGTON

classical music for everyone

OUR MISSION: Chamber Music Wilmington presents dynamic classical music performances that enrich and engage audiences of Southeastern North Carolina, bringing a vibrant musical spectrum of international award-winning string quartets, wind ensembles, baroque ensembles, solo pianists and singers to the acoustically superb Beckwith Recital Hall-UNCW. CMW cultivates community engagement and audience diversity through a variety of educational programming in non-traditional settings.

"Along with extraordinary playing, Peled treated the audience to a fair quantity of spoken introduction to the pieces. These were informative and entertaining, and helped enliven his music making still further. He has a charismatic personality which draws listeners into the performance about to take place. This is the kind of presentation which could do much to draw new fans to concert music. For anyone present this evening, it was all an experience to remember."

~ Barry Salwen, Classical Voice NC

EVENING CONCERT SERIES -

CMW's four-concert program is presented in the UNCW's Beckwith Hall on Sunday afternoons and features award-winning national and international artists performing chamber music from all eras.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH -

CMW supports young artists by offering free educational enrichment opportunities, proving artists of all ages and levels a chance to work award-winning musicians in a masterclass environment.

ENGAGEMENT – CMW connects the community, providing a variety of music-making opportunities for all ages and levels through music meet-ups and 'jams', amateur chamber music ensembles, and Instrument Petting Zoos.

ENRICHMENT - CMW partners with Wilmington's public radio station 91.3 WHQR to present interviews and live broadcasts with visiting artists.
